

Supplementary Table 1. Results from the general clinical & research Round 2 survey of experts (N = 23)

	HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONALS Mode, Median (IQR)	FAMILY CAREGIVERS and PAID CAREGIVERS Mode, Median (IQR)
Have specific techniques to apply in their work / use in daily life with patients with MND who have cognitive impairment	Very Important, 3 (0)	Very Important, 3 (0)
Have specific techniques to apply in their work / use in daily life with patients with MND who have behaviour impairment	Very Important, 3 (0)	Very Important, 3 (0)
Have specific techniques to apply in their work / use in daily life with patients with MND who have concomitant FTD	Very Important, 3 (0)	Very Important, 3 (0)
Have examples on how cognitive and behavioural impairment might impact the caregiver or families the person with MND	Very Important, 3 (0)
Know about changes in day-to-day practice taking into account cognitive and behaviour impairment in MND	Very Important, 3 (1)
Know about changes in communication style with the person with MND who has cognitive and behaviour impairment	Very Important, 3 (0)
Know about changes in communication style with the family or paid caregiver of the person with MND who has cognitive and behaviour impairment	Very Important, 3 (0)
Have general information on cognitive and behavioural impairment in MND		Very Important, 3 (1)
Have examples of what cognitive and behavioural impairment look like and how it impacts people with MND		Very Important, 3 (1)
Have a list of helpful health and social care contacts		Very Important, 3 (0)

IQR = interquartile range, MND = motor neurone disease, FTD = Frontotemporal dementia. Not applicable fields in grey.